RESULT OF THE CAUCUS.

Not Altogether Satisfactory and an Independent Ticket is Named.

After considerable street talk last week it was agreed to meet in joint caucus and nominate a city ticket. The caucus was held Saturday evening under the National Bank and a very good ticket nominated. As a matter of course it did not please everyone but it was like King's lectures, there was something in it for every person. The fact that Mr. Watson made all the motions created in the minds of some the idea that it was his show and so there was some little dissatisfaction, as was evidenced in the vote. There seemed to be a little objection to the selection for mayor but no one seemed to offer a solution of the problem that would be as satisfactory, so the meeting adjourned without breaking up in a row as some expected.

The following is the secretary's report of the proceedings:

On motion made by J. I. Brelsford, C. A. Mosher was elected chairman, and on motion of F. D. West, M. D. Gonder was elected secretary. Motion was made and carried that a committee of two from each side act as a conference committee and J. I. Brelsford, F. D. West, G. W. Watson and F. C. Blanchard were appointed. Motion was made that the report of the conference committee be accepted. The motion was carried by a vote of 41 to 16. Motion was made and carried that the ticket be called "Citizens' Ticket." A motion was made and carried that caucus adjourn.

M. D. GONDER, Secretary.
C. A. MOSHER, Chairman.

The following is the report of the conference committee:

We your committee beg leave to present to you the following citizens for your city ticket:

Mayor—Milton Schnatterly; Councilmen—Sherman Misner, A. Merryman, Ralph Bidwell, L. F. Best and F. N. Cole; Police Judge—W. A. Snow.

F. C. BLANCHARD,
G. W. WATSON,
J. I. BRELSFORD,
F. D. WEST,
Committee.

After selecting candidates in caucus Saturday evening the same were nominated by petition to comply with the law. The ticket was then filed with the city clerk and will appear on the ballot under the heading, "Independent." This ticket, or the manner of nominating it, was unsatisfactory to quite a number for various reasons and those feeling so decided to place another ticket in the field and have nominated by petition, Merryman for mayor, Andrews, Swaney, Willard Clark, Frank Wellman and Joe Crow for councilmen, and Loxo for police judge. Should none of the candidates withdraw they will all be printed in the independent column. Those named are all good men and any of them would make good officers. It was expected that the ticket named by the caucus would be entirely satisfactory and that there would be none other in the field, but the right to nominate by petition is so wide open that there can be any number of candidates under the independent head provided they receive the requisite number of signatures to their petition. We expect to see a prohibition ticket and a wet ticket in the field before the time for filing expires.

As we go to press we learn that the petition nominating Mr. Loxo for police judge has not been filed, he having requested that it be withheld. He says the ticket is being referred to as a Loxo ticket and for him to run would prejudice the election of the other candidates. It has been estimated to us that the city clerk will be enjoined from having the ticket headed by Mr. Schnatterly printed on the official ballot, on the theory that the candidates named for this ticket are nominated by one petition, their names all appearing on the same petition, while the law requires that each candidate shall be nominated by a separate petition. This contention would seem to be borne out by the fact that the filing on the back of the nomination papers is arranged for the name of only one candidate. The corner boss assures us that this point is immaterial and he is supposed to know. It would be something of a joke on him if he had the ticket into defeat before it ever reached the field of battle. It would be a rude shock to his prestige as a boss.

Cold's Are Dangerous.

How often you hear it remarked: "It's only a cold," and a few days later learn that the man is on his back with pneumonia. This is a such common occurrence that a cold, however slight, should not be disregarded. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. It always cures and is pleasant to take. ### WHAT OSTEOPATHY IS.

Osteopathy is a system of treating disease by scientific manipulation. Its principles are based on a sound philosophy, and proved by results. The Osteopath assumes the healthy body to be a highly organized and complicated machine constructed by the great Master Mechanic, and so perfectly adjusted in all its parts as to run its appointed period until worn out by old age. The mass of the living machine consists of bone and muscle. This framework is traversed by a winding and flexible set of tubes which contain the rapidly moving and vital lifeblood and by a still more delicate system of silvery threads which we call the nervous system. Health is that condition we are in when the life giving blood flows freely to every organ, unobstructed by any of its bony or muscular passages, and when each sensitive nerve passes to its destination without interference by a misplaced bone, contracted muscle or other of its surroundings. Disease is the result when some of the parts of this intricate machine are out of their proper relation. Health is the condition when all the wheels of life are on their center and move without any obstruction great or small. Disease is the creaking of the eccentric of any or all parts of the machinery.

The numerous unnatural conditions to which this human machine is exposed must necessarily cause some bone, muscle or tendon to be misplaced so as to press on a flexible blood vessel or a sensitive nerve. Then we say we are sick.

Various are the ways by which these misplacements may be accomplished: jars, blows and falls, misplaced bones; exposure to heat, cold and moisture contracts and displaces muscles and nerves leading to all parts of the body.

Nature, with more or less success tries to repair, but is often unsuccessful. The duty of the osteopath is to assist nature by replacing bones and adjusting and relaxing muscles and tendons so as to take the pressure from blood vessels and nerves. Again the blood and nerve force flow unobstructed through the correctly adjusted human machine and we have health.

Through a highly developed sense of touch and best obtainable knowledge of anatomy the Osteopath discovers the slightest anatomical disorder. We place the machinery in order and nature effects the cure.

WHAT IT IS NOT.

It is not massage in any sense of the word, and it is not in any way associated with hypnotism, suggestive therapeutics, Swedish movements, faith cures, Christian science or magnetic healing.

Osteopathy has been legally recognized by special acts of legislature in the following states: Vermont, Missouri, North Dakota, Illinois, Tennessee, Indiana, California, Kansas, Wisconsin, Texas, Montana, Nebraska, Connecticut, Ohio and Maryland.

Club Notes.

Quite a large number of club women met at Mrs. Hill's Wednesday afternoon to listen to Mrs. Erwin's paper on Leibnitz, Hoffman and Poque, which gave a clear idea of the tendency of the writings. Hoffman and Poque belonged to the Romanticists. Mrs. Erwin read a selection from Hoffman's most celebrated book, "The Golden Pot," and also from "Undine" by Poque.

Leibnitz is an extraordinary example of what is called universal scholarship. The vast range of his scholarship has never been surpassed. His usefulness lay along many lines of activity which were of real benefit to the times in which he lived. He was the first man to insist that science be used to mitigate the dangers and horrors of mingling and was commissioned to recognize the royal mine of Germany. He planned for the French in 1672 a military expedition to Egypt and the plans were used by Napoleon in 1798. His greatest work was as a philosopher and as the organizer of the academies which afterward became great universities. He organized Berlin, Dresden and Vienna and went to Russia on the invitation of Peter the Great to establish the celebrated academy of St. Petersburg. His philosophical thought, "brilliant but crude," foreshadowed what was to come in later years and ruled German thought for a century.

The next meeting of the Woman's Club is at Mrs. Strong's. Mrs. Higgins appointed Mrs. Sellers, Mrs. Bills, Mrs. West and Mrs. H. L. Schnatterly as delegates to the Federation at Wichita the first week in May.

A sinister plot to invade the quiet peaceful home of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher West, club people, was formed Wednesday afternoon. About 8 o'clock the same evening quite a company, armed with their nerve, cakes, oranges, sandwiches, coffee, pickles, etc., appeared at the West home, some with the announcement they had come to celebrate the lady's birthday, others saying they were there to celebrate their wedding anniversary; others wisely entered and loudly congratulated Mr. West on his birthday. They wanted an excuse to go to Mrs. West's for a good time, knowing they are sure to be hospitably welcomed. It really turned out to be Mrs. West's birthday.

It was hoped by some of the most dignified members of the invading party (the Graphic reporter) that the presence of a minister, Rev. Mr. Magill, brother of the hostess, would seem to preserve a serious orderliness, but he announced that he liked to see people enjoy themselves, so there was the usual amount of Kinsley fun.

Miss Josephine Hills enlivened the occasion by some beautiful violin solos. She has carefully concealed her violin playing from her friends who are delighted to find there is a young lady in Kinsley who possesses this accomplishment. Mr. West and Mrs. Hine helped to furnish music for the occasion which was very enjoyable.

The A. N. Card club and a few friends enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Bidwell on Monday evening. The club was to close with a dance but concluding the weather would be warm by the close of the club year, decided to have the hop during Easter week. Messrs. Ketelson and Bidwell are the committee on arrangements, and a number of their friends will be invited to the affair which is to be given at Florin's opera house.

The Kinsley Card Club meets with Mrs. C. A. Mosher Monday evening.
